Paul, Weiss Welcomes Antitrust Practitioner in Washington

New York and Washington, D.C., February 2, 2026— Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison LLP announced today that Jesse Solomon has joined the firm as a partner in the Antitrust Practice, resident in Washington. A prominent antitrust practitioner, Solomon advises clients on domestic and global merger clearance, complex antitrust investigations and non-merger conduct matters.

“Jesse has significant experience across the spectrum of critical antitrust matters, and we are thrilled to welcome him to our growing Washington antitrust team,” said Paul, Weiss Chairman Brad S. Karp. “His proven ability to secure clearances for multibillion-dollar mergers will be an invaluable asset to our clients as they navigate the increased global regulatory scrutiny of major transactions.”

“We are delighted to welcome Jesse, whose stature in the antitrust bar and extraordinary track record before the FTC and DOJ set him apart,” said Scott A. Sher, global co-chair of the Antitrust Practice. “His proven success guiding clients through complex merger clearances and investigations will be a tremendous asset to our clients, who require the most sophisticated antitrust counsel.”

Solomon has advised on some of the most significant and complex transactions and investigations in recent history across a range of industries, including pharmaceuticals, healthcare, technology, chemicals and consumer products. He regularly represents clients on antitrust and non-merger conduct investigations before the Federal Trade Commission and the U.S. Department of Justice. In his M&A advisory practice, he develops strategies for securing merger clearance of transactions across jurisdictions worldwide.

Solomon has obtained clearance for numerous multibillion-dollar transactions. Some of Solomon’s notable representations in the life sciences and healthcare space include Aetna in connection with its sale to CVS Health; Shire on its acquisition by Takeda; and AstraZeneca, Bristol Myers Squibb and GSK plc on various transactions. His representations in other industries include ICM Partners on its acquisition of Creative Artists Agency following a lengthy DOJ review; Campbell Soup in connection with its acquisition of Sovos Brands; and Nuvei on its acquisition of Paya Holdings. In addition, Solomon has led large-scale conduct investigations and litigations, including a recent impact litigation for Syngenta.

Solomon has received numerous accolades and recognitions throughout the course of his career. He has been recognized by Chambers USA for Antitrust in Washington, D.C. from 2020-2025 and Legal 500 U.S. as a Next Generation Partner in 2025 for Antitrust: Merger Control and was named a “D.C. Rising Star” by the National Law Journal in 2019.
